You will need to discuss what these standards are with your trainer and/or assessor during your training period so that you are aware of what is required. Where these standards and work instructions are written down, you should collect copies so that you have something to refer to. Your assessor will also refer to these when you are being assessed. In some cases for workplace skills, your Assessor may use someone with specialised knowledge of the process or machine to confirm your skills. This person is called a Verifier. Some assessments require evidence that you demonstrate competence on an ongoing basis. Your assessor may also use a Verifier to confirm that this is the case. You do not need to be assessed for all of the Unit Standard at one time. Assessment can take place as you develop the knowledge and skills. Your assessor will keep a record of progress, and once you have been assessed as competent for all the tasks, you will have completed this unit standard. If any parts of the standard are not met, further evidence of your competence in that task/s will be sought. You would normally answer questions verbally and your assessor will note answers. In some cases you may be able to demonstrate knowledge as a written project. In this case simple diagrams could be used. You should discuss the best way with your assessor. The workplace is often a noisy environment. If you need to give the assessor more information then you will be clearly told of what it is that you need to do. You have a right to appeal your assessor's decision if you are not happy with the assessor's decision. Your assessor will explain the appeal process. At the end of the assessment you will be asked to sign the assessment to show that you were happy with how the assessment went.
